Belgium-based LED screen specialist Pixled expands its F-6 European Cross Rental Network, with recent sales of over 400 square metres of its high resolution product.

F-6 product, in combination with the Mitsubishi HD processor, has been delivered to the following market leaders in their countries : Stealth 7 LLC in Russia; Smart Choice Ltd. from Portugal;

Visiontools GmbH

from Germany; Irish-based

Mongey Communications Ltd.

-- and also the

XL Video Group

headquartered in Belgium. All are involved in some of the highest profile and most innovative shows and installations in Europe.

Pixled's Cross Rental Network is business strategy formulated to enable AV and visuals rental companies to seamlessly cross-rent equipment within Europe for larger projects.

General manager Bart Van der Beken says, "Cross rental is definitely the way forward. Everyone is impressed with the build quality, the fast and easy rigging and the superb Mitsubishi processing option on the F-6, plus all the extra features like its curvability and the ability to remove LED strips, all of which combine to make it an incredibly creative visual design tool."

Following the success of Pixled F-6, the F-9 (shown here) will be launched at PLASA next month. It is identical to the F-6—except for the pitch-- and is fully mechanically compatible. Like the F-6, this will also be available in 2000 and 4000 Nit versions.
