

Real Applications of Holographic Projection

Written by Bob Snyder
08. 03. 2010

Light Blue Optics is showing some cool holographic applications – real-world applications. HLP, or Holographic Laser Projection, is a totally new projection technology that allows images to be projected on any surface.

Watch the video (use web link below).

OK, now that you've seen their technology, check out the applications they have. Our favourite is projected menus on table surfaces in restaurants.

This is a very cool technology that WILL have an impact on our market, soon!

Watch Light Blue Optics