VISIX Wins NEC Display's Best of InfoComm Award

Written by Bob Snyder
27. 06. 2012

NEC Display Solutions of America names Visix as the winner of the 2012 Best of InfoComm Award. Visix will donate the $10,000 prize to an Atlanta-based organization that meets the educational and developmental needs of children with learning differences.

Visix won the award for its AxisTV Version 8.0 digital signage software, which includes a new user interface, new background library and 64-bit support for Microsoft Server 2008. It finished in the top five after a public voting period.

The other finalists were Actineon, Dataton, Haivision and Revolabs. The winner was picked by a panel of four industry experts, including rAVe founder Gary Kayye. The other judges were Lyle Bunn of BUNN, Co., David Keene of NewBay Media and Chuck Wilson of NSCA.

Past winners of the NEC Best of InfoComm Award include Peerless-AV (2011), SpinetiX (2010) and
Da-Lite
(2009-- the first year the award was given).

VISIX Wins NEC Display's Best of InfoComm Award

Written by Bob Snyder

27. 06. 2012

Go NEC Best of InfoComm Award

Go Visix