Swiss digital signage manufacturer SpinetiX introduced at ISE a new software called Elementi to make it easy to create and organize digital signage projects. Customers can choose between three license types of Elementi, all compatible with the range of SpinetiX HMP Hyper Media Player devices:

Elementi S allows for a quick project creation thanks user tools such as icon based toolbars, 'drag & drop' actions and media timelines.

Elementi M, a powerful answer for team based content editing and publishing. In a multi user environment, team members can have different roles and access to a shared network.

Elementi X is the all in one digital signage solution for ultimate professionals. Elementi X allows experts monetizing Fusion template, skin and widget creation. It comes with a full set of advanced developer tools.
