

Hitachi's Gesture System

Written by Bob Snyder
20. 08. 2010

Microsoft Kinect isn't the only gesture UI in the game. For one other example, Hitachi has shown in its lab a gesture-based system that will let you control any kind of information display on a TV or by a video projector, by simply waving your hands in any directions.

Here you can see the video of a working prototype that Hitachi is working on for digital signage, medical displays –as well as other CE areas like TV.

Go Hitachi Gesture System