10 months after introduction, Microsoft is now accepting pre-orders for its next generation of Surface, the Samsung SUR40 for Microsoft Surface, from Samsung resellers in 23 countries worldwide.

Automotive, education, finance, healthcare, hospitality, and retail are just some of the industries targeted to take advantage of the $8400 SUR40 with Samsung's PixelSense technology, sleeker form factor and horizontal/vertical orientation options.

New and existing customers include Dassault Aviation, Fujifilm Corp. and Royal Bank of Canada, have plans for the Samsung SUR40 and will deploy units in locations early 2012.

The flat-screen panel from Samsung uses 2 million built-in sensors.
